Wire Fraud

As wire fraud schemes become more prevalent, everyone involved in a real estate transaction is at risk. Criminals are hacking into the emails of various parties in a transaction to divert closing funds with deceptive wiring instructions. Closing funds that are erroneously wired into a hacker's bank account are irretrievable.

For incoming wires, it is imperative that you inform your clients to never wire funds for closing until they have verbally verified wiring instructions with their Investors Title Company closing team.

For outgoing wires, Investors Title Company requires that your client personally complete and sign our wiring instruction form, along with a voided check of the receiving bank account.

These procedures are set in place for the protection of your clients. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact one of our Account Executives or your Investors Title Company closing team.
