Letter from ITC President Joe Crutchfield

I know what you're going to say. You're going to open this newsletter and say to yourself, "Sure seems like it's been a long time since I got a newsletter from Investors! What in the world have they been doing over there, anyway?!" Well, sorry for the hiatus. However, we have been taking time to enhance the look and feel of the newsletter and our website. In addition, we have been and will continue to enhance our online presence and social media interaction with you and with consumers. We really are excited about it. So, I hope you like this new and improved newsletter format and find it helpful and instructive.

As we enter a time when we start to see business pick up, I wanted to suggest something very simple that I think is more important than ever given that the time frames from contract acceptance to closing continue to shrink...
